www.opa.org

Course Description

The presentation will provide an overview and demonstration of Pearson Clinical Assessment current systems for conducting psychological assessment that range from completely digital, to hybrid approaches. Demonstration of the use of Q-Interactive, Pearson's iPad based testing and scoring system, and the web-based Q-Global digital testing and scoring will be provided and discussed.

Learning Objectives

Attendees will become familiar with the current testing platforms available for remote on-screen administration of testing. Attendees will also become familiar with current resources addressing issues of testing remotely, psychometric norms consideration, and future efforts to adapt to a remote evaluation environment.

A live example of the application of remote testing will be demonstrated.

Patrick J. Moran, Ph.D.

Speaker

Patrick J. Moran, Ph.D. is a licensed Clinical Psychologist in Oregon and Washington with over 30 years of experience working in clinical practice treating addictions and co-occurring disorders, working in public education, and psychological and educational testing. Dr. Moran has enjoyed a multi-dimensional career of work with both adult and youth populations providing community-based substance abuse prevention and treatment, implemented multiple federal, state, and county based best practice models for treatment of co-occurring disorders, and managed his own private practices. Dr. Moran has 18 years of cross-cultural experience working with Native Americans as a provider, trainer, grant writer, and Behavioral Health Director for a large Urban Indian Clinic serving the Pacific Northwest.

Dr. Moran has served on the Board of Directors for both the Oregon Psychological Association, and the Oregon School Psychology Association. He has held adjunct appointments at Concordia University, and Lewis and Clark College in Portland, Oregon. Dr. Moran was a contributing consultant to the California Department of Education Response to Intervention (RTI) Implementation Task Force, the California Specific Learning Disabilities (SLD) Advisory Committee linking IEP goals to the Common Core standards, and the CA State Specific Learning Disabilities (SLD) Regulatory Work Group. He has also been involved in recent collaborations with state and professional organizations to articulate a model for SLD identification incorporating the assessment of processing strengths and weaknesses (PSW). Dr. Moran regularly provides consultation and training to behavioral health assessment providers in the mental health and medical field, special education, and higher education and training settings.

Dr. Moran is the Director, Western Region and Government Programs for Pearson Clinical Assessment. Pearson is a leading test development and publishing company that provides a range of psychological and educational evaluation measures on both digital and non-digital platforms.

Workshop Classifications and Continuing Education Credits

Each workshop is classified according to the following system:

- Level 1: general or introductory content aimed at a diverse audience.
- Level 2: psychologically sophisticated content, at either introductory or more advanced levels, aimed at general professional audiences.
- Level 3: highly advanced theoretical or technical content, aimed at expert audiences.

Level 2 and 3 presentations will typically warrant CE credit for a licensed psychologist. Both level and number of hours for each workshop are indicated and official letters of completion will be awarded to participants who attend the entire workshop. APA guidelines specify that no letter of attendance will be awarded for partial workshop attendance.

Level 2 and 3 offerings are typically accepted by the Oregon Board of Psychologist Examiners. However, Oregon licensed psychologists should consult the official Continuing Education Guidelines produced by the Oregon Board of Psychologist Examiners and note that there is no pre-certification of continuing education credit by the Board of Psychologist Examiners.
